Acknowledgments

I appreciate all the help that I have received in putting this book together as well as all of my other 65 published books.

My printed acknowledgments had been so large that book readers "complained" about going through too many pages to get to page one of the text.

And, so to permit me more flexibility, I put my acknowledgment list online, and it continues to grow. Believe it or not, it costs about a dollar less to print each book.

Thank you and God bless you all for your help.

Please check out www.letsGOPublish.com to read the latest version of my heartfelt acknowledgments updated for this book. Click the bottom of the Main menu!

Thank you all!

Introduction to Being a High Information Voter

Do you remember this? "There are eight million stories in the naked city. This has been one of them." Well, we are at the beginning of one of those stories. Many who are now reading this story never believed they would need it. Thankfully, there are not eight million secrets in this book.

However, there are 101 secrets to becoming a high information voter in this book, and this introductory chapter does not bring you even one of them. However, it does sets up all the other chapters / secrets. This chapter tells you what you gain by trudging along, one secret at a time, until you have all the secrets.

Then, once the listed secrets are well known, it is time to get to work. You will be able to plan your learning work, and then work your learning plan. The secrets in this book will assure that you will never again be a low-information voter.

Whatever inspired you to buy this inexpensive but nonetheless great book, do your best to never not slip into the mire of the low-information voter. The only game low information voters can play is the game of blindly repeating the thoughts of others. High information voters think for themselves.

What is a low-information voter? Let's read a little bit from the guy who coined the term and then we will all know: We'll use an article by Colbert King to get us on our way. Here goes:

Colbert King's Low-Information Definition of the Term "Low-Information Voter"

March 25, 2013

On March 25, 2013, Rush Limbaugh, trying to figure out why liberal progressives do not blame Obama for all the problems he truly has caused our country, created a new buzz-word – low information voter. In many ways the term is self-explanatory. Here is some of what Rush said when reflecting on the Colbert King definition:

BEGIN TRANSCRIPT

RUSH: Over on PBS on their Sunday morning Inside Washington show, they had Washington Post columnist Colbert King, known to his friends in the DC establishment as Colby. They were having a discussion about the Republican Party. Nina Totenberg said, "When you look actually at what the Republican Party analysis of itself was --" this Reince Priebus thing, "-- the fear was that the electorate is a different electorate. And it isn't just much more of a minority electorate. It is an electorate that wants some serious social and economic safety net that is different from what they are hearing from Republicans today." And this is what Colbert King had to say.

KING: The guru of the Republican Party, the face of conservatism is Rush Limbaugh. We all agree to that. He puts down those results by saying Obama won with a low-information voters, low-information voters. What's he mean by that? They're sort of stupid. They don't understand the issues.

RUSH: No, that's not... nobody in the media, I don't know what is so hard about getting me right. I'm on 15 hours a week. You don't need a password to listen to this program. It's free over the air. You can even listen to parts of this program at RushLimbaugh.com. You do not have to be a subscriber. You can access the text of this program at RushLimbaugh.com. It's free. It's everywhere. What is so hard to understand about what I say?

I have never said that low-information voters are stupid. I just said they don't know what they think they know. They are prisoners to the media, which has dumbed them down. Low-information voters can be doctors. Low-information voters can be scientists. They can be among all walks of life. It has nothing to do with IQ. It has to do with what they don't know because of their media sources. Low-information voters are clearly people that don't have all the information available to make a voting choice. That's all they are. And they're all over the place. And most of them do vote Democrat.

Most of them did vote for Obama. It's not a comment on their intelligence. It's not that they're stupid or don't understand the issues. They just haven't had it all explained to them. What Mr. King just did here is prove himself to be a low-information columnist. He's probably a low-information voter himself. He probably closes off half of his mind to conservatism or anything else that he doesn't agree with. Just amazing.

BREAK TRANSCRIPT

RUSH: By the way, Colbert King of Washington Post, I just want to remind you that the term "low-information voter," I'm pretty sure that we coined it. I'm pretty sure that we made up that name, but we're not the only ones to use it. Richard Stengel, the TIME Magazine editor, was explaining why Obama was named Person of the Year. Mr. King, do you remember what Mr. Stengel said? He went on TV and he also had a press release.

They named Obama the Person of the Year because no-information voters loved the guy, and it's no-information people -- low-information voters -- who he said are transforming America. It's remarkable! TIME Magazine said it. Obama is the guy that ended up being able to tap that block. He's the first politician to get votes from people who don't care about anything and who aren't paying attention, and that was worth honoring the president as Person of the Year. TIME Magazine, Mr. King.

END TRANSCRIPT

I do not think I need to go into my own explanation of a low-information voter. It is who none of us want to be. Limbaugh came up with the theory and he said it very well. If we choose to not follow political activity as it pertains to our country's elections and we vote in the elections without having gained the requisite knowledge to understand the orange from the green or the earth from the sky, we are doing wrong. We would be the definition of the low-information voter. I truly believe in those circumstances, we should disqualify ourselves as voters so we do not mess up elections and put the wrong people in office.

If our minds have been molded by some pundit who we like and we never agree or disagree but merely follow, then we are basically removing our ability to make an informed choice for America. More than ever, Americans must be high information voters. Our country is at stake. In our parents' generation, ideological candidates were not trying to undermine the Constitution and the fundamentals of our country. .

We cannot go on with the same approach for ISIS, illegal immigration, no jobs, no respect for police and law and order, and unconstitutional actions by our country's chief executive without chipping away at our freedoms. We cannot afford a corrupt Hillary Clinton Presidency in which she sells America to the highest bidder for Clinton Cash. We need someone who is not from the Democrat elite or the Republican elite. We need a very smart man—a non-politician. We need Donald Trump for president of the United States.

I thank you all for coming here for the Information Voters 101 seminar that can be another name for this book. These are the sources for good and bad information. Choose carefully and prepare yourself to be a high information voter if you are not one already. Once you are confident you are a high information voter, either before reading or after reading this book, please use your copy of the book to share lessons with your friends and associates on the importance of voters having the best information possible. If you want to buy copies of this book for your friends; they are very inexpensive ($6.99 hard copy and $1.88 on Kindle).

So what do we have in store for you?

You will find 101 secrets in the next 101 pages. These secrets can help you be as smart as you ever want to be about the current state of America. My bet is that the preponderance of Americans love America and that is why I do what I do.

I also know that most Americans think it is OK to let other people who they call politicians to run the government. Americans are trusting. Please stop being so trusting. Our politicians are no longer trustworthy.

We are kidding ourselves if we think they are really interested in representing us v themselves. What if the government says you can no longer have more than one child as in China? What if the government says, we will fill all vacancies in US firms with people less than 50 years old brought in legally or illegally from other countries in which the people have learned not to demand a high wage! Is that absurd? Would your government do that? Do you even know?

I suspect that is why your face is in this book right now.

Thank you. I love America too! Here are the 101 secrets. Don't be surprised that you knew them all along. This time, use them to make sure you are a high information voter from this point on! God Bless!

Secret #1 The Rush Limbaugh Show

Listen every day to the Rush Limbaugh show on radio from 12:00 to 3:00. If you learn nothing else from this book, this one change in your daily habits can bring you the closest to achieving high information voter status in the shortest amount of time.

Secret #2 The Rush Limbaugh Website

Scour the Rush Limbaugh Site for the well archived text of his shows from as far back as you'd want to get. The writing is very clear because Limbaugh has great elocution and when transcribed to text, they do a great job. If all you do is listen to Rush Limbaugh, while gently getting into the other 99 secrets, you can quickly elevate yourself from a low information voter to a high information voter. America will be the better for your intelligent vote. God bless you for giving it a try.

<http://www.rushlimbaugh.com/>

Secret #3 Read Rush Limbaugh Books

Read Rush Limbaugh's books to gain a great foundation for our country. They are children's books but written so well, adults can learn from them. It will help you understand how the founders created our country so that you will know better how President Obama is ripping it up.

Your kids will love the books also. They are great: Rush Limbaugh won the Author of the Year award at the Children's Choice Book Awards for his book Rush Revere and the Brave Pilgrims: Time-Travel Adventures With Exceptional Americans, in which Rush Revere and a talking-horse named Liberty travel back in time to visit the pilgrims. Although the book has never been a critical favorite — one review accused it of "disdain for even the most rudimentary standards of storytelling" — it has been an enormous commercial success. I bet the bad review was from a biased journalist.

I bought the books for me. They are great. Four finalists for the award were chosen because of their places on bestseller lists, and the winner was chosen by children's votes. To see the books, go to Amazon and type in Rush Revere. You'll be glad you did!

Secret #4 The Michael Savage Show

Listen every night to the Michael Savage show on the radio at times based on where you live. In Pennsylvania, Dr. Savage is on from 9:00 PM to 12:00 midnight. Like Limbaugh, he is great!

Secret #5 The Michael Savage Website

Michael Savage recently won induction into National Radio Hall of Fame; in league with giants Orson Welles, Walter Winchell, and other greats. He has the right perspective on the country. A steady diet of Michael Savage will help you understand what is going on and will help you understand what you must do to change it. His website is a treasure of unbiased facts --

www.michaelsavage.wnd.com

Secret #6 Michael Savage's Books

Michael Savage is the most prolific writer about the topics which you need today to cope with all of the corruption around us. Next chance you get, please go to goodreads to get a list of Michael Savage books and / or you can go to Amazon and type in Michael Savage. He really hits the nail on the head. You can also go to his website for some reviews of his books. He is an American treasure. www.michaelsavage.wnd.com

Secret #7 Fox News Network

Listen to Fox News Network for facts but watch out for liberals such as Alan Colmes, Juan Williams, and Kirsten Powers. Do not pay attention to anything they say. Remember they also have some Republican turncoats on who are not representative of what we conservatives, nationalists and populists think.

Recent defectors include George Will, Brit Hume, Karl Rove, Charles Krauthammer. They are for Hillary rather than Trump so be careful. They are for the Republican establishment elites rather than for the grassroots hoi polloi variety American. Always be vigilant and remember, the media is mostly dishonest and most are against Donald Trump because he is about to kick out all their cronies in government who are bad guys.

Secret #8 MSNBC Network

Never listen to MSNBC for news. There are very, very, very, very, very few truth-tellers on that network. So that you can find out the lies du jour they are telling without falling prey to being convinced of anything by this corrupt news outlet, limit your time to quick bursts of no more than fifteen minutes. Rachel Maddow is probably their worst but it is hard to find any truth on MSNBC.

Secret #9 CNN News Network

Never listen to CNN for news. There are very, very, very, very, very, very, few truth-tellers on that network. So that you can find out the lies du jour they are telling without falling prey to being convinced of anything by this corrupt news outlet, limit your time to quick bursts of no more than fifteen minutes. Wolf Blitzer is probably their worst. He was dancing with a glass of wine at the Democrat Convention. Is that unbiased news?

Secret #10 NBC News

Never listen to NBC for news. There are very, very, very, very, few truth-tellers on this network. I don't even bother going there and can't even tell you who their worst person is. But, they are known for boldly tipping the scales in favor of the Democrats in all their reporting and entanglements.

Consider the Washington Examiner report on NBC in which it disclosed a secret deal that NBC News announced. They are now partnering with an organization called TargetSmart to “to perform nonpartisan analysis, research voting habits, and identify voting trends at the state and local levels.”

The catch is that TargetSmart is a Democratic firm founded by Democratic operatives that exclusively works with Democratic campaigns. Its website boasts that in 2012 it was named the primary vendor of the DNC, “instantly distributing TargetSmart data to nearly every Democratic candidate campaign in America.” If you are looking for bias, go to NBC for no more than a few minutes a day and come back to the radio or Fox

Secret #11 ABC News

Never listen to ABC for news. There are very, very, very, very, few truth-tellers on this network. The Daily caller points out that ABC News and George Stephanopoulos have a credibility problem with conservatives and Middle America. And it seems to be getting worse.

It's not just that ABC News hired Bill Clinton's White House spokesman and counselor George Stephanopoulos as a journalist; it's that the pack mentality at ABC News doesn't even see it as a problem. A current ABC News producer had no problem when interviewed by the Daily Caller to offer that "The planning meetings [at ABC News] have little political diversity. Everyone is left of center and at ease with their liberal ideals. The other viewpoint is rarely raised and never fully represented."

A nice taste of biased news is available for every one of your trips to mainstream media outlet ABC. Enjoy!

Secret #12 CBS News

Never listen to CBS for news. There are very, very, very, very, few truth-tellers on this network. Don't take my word for it. When Bernie Goldberg, a well-oiled and unbiased Emmy Award journalist was in his nearly thirty years at CBS News, he earned a reputation as one of the preeminent reporters in the television news business.

When he looked at his own industry, however, he saw that the media far too often ignored their primary mission: to provide objective, disinterested reporting. Again and again he saw that the news slanted to the left. For years, Goldberg appealed to reporters, producers, and network executives for more balanced reporting, but no one listened. The liberal bias continues on CBS to this day.

Secret #13 CNBC News Network

Never listen to CNBC for news. There are very, very, very, very, few truth-tellers on this network. Back when the debating season began in 2015, the Republican presidential candidates piled on the CNBC moderators for their clearly biased questioning.

There was what has been called plenty of sturm and drang about media bias. The media and of course CNBC will not admit it. They lie about their lies. They have odd defenses with some claiming that there is no such thing as media bias. This response is wrong, and the quicker the press come to terms with this, the better off everyone will be.

The mainstream media has a leftward slant for sure. So, either change it or admit it. Chris Cuomo could not wait to lie about it. Twitter me this lie Chris: he "idea that all media is biased is silly. pols blaming media for state of play also silly. I hope you did not stain your teeth on that lie, Chris. CNBC is biased, period.

Secret #14 Mark Levin

Be careful about listening to Mark Levin on the radio. He was once the great one but no longer. He is against Donald Trump. He has great things to say about American patriotism and the abysmal conditions brought forth by the Obama Administration.

When in the past Levin talked about Trump, I turned him off because Trump is all we have and Trump is the only choice. He is a voice alone in the political scene. He has taken a major stance against the establishment elitists in both parties who are destroying America for their personal greed and pomposity. When I first wrote this secret, Levin needed a wake-up call from Sean Hannity who was once his biggest rooter on TV. Thankfully, he got it and he is now as Trump supporter.

Mark Levin is now firmly aboard the Trump train, leaving only Glenn Beck standing as a major conservative radio host who opposes the GOP nominee. Mark Levin is well worth your time as he loves America like you any I. He had misdiagnosed Donald Trump. He admitted his mistake. He is a good man.

Secret #15 Erick Erickson

Be careful about listening to Eric Ericson on the radio. He too was once a great one but no longer. He is against Donald Trump and that means in this election, he is against America and Americans. Most of his other messages are good but when he talks about Trump, turn him your deaf ear.

Fox's Erick Erickson: "I Will Not Vote For Donald Trump For President Of The United States Even If He Is The Republican Nominee." Erickson, a Fox News contributor and radio host, has repeatedly said he would not vote for Trump in the general election. From a post on his website The Resurgent: I will not vote for Donald Trump for President of the United States even if he is the Republican nominee.

We do not need Erickson, Use your other 100 secrets wisely.

Secret #16 Glenn Beck

Do not listen to Glenn Beck. He has become poison. He was once my favorite when he was on Fox. I do not mean that he does not utter good notions every now and then, but his ranting about Donald Trump is delusional and he fits it into every discussion on his show.

I turn him off after several minutes because I cannot stand his bias. Beck pounces on everything negative about Trump even if Trump explains it satisfactorily. Beck is now like the mainstream media full of Trump lies.

I feel he has Rachel Maddow's hate in his words. A couple of years ago he was many people's favorite on Fox. Now, thinking of Mr. Beck it's just really kind of sad. He became a has-been by choice. He is a sideshow that barely even makes the headlines anymore.

He still seems to have the same swagger as he must still see himself as some kind of "religious leader." However, his influence in the mainstream conservative community has been reduced to a mere fraction of what it once was. His negative bashing of Trump and thus his default acceptance of Hillary Clinton as the next President is simply inexcusable.

Secret #17 New York Times

Never read the New York Times. The "Grey Lady" no longer has all the news fit to print. She is a biased old hag that ought to hang it up. Bias is her byword. She makes things up in the fashion of Hillary Clinton and the paper is full of lies about lies about lies. The Times is supposed to be the bastion of the free press in America. Instead, it has become the private daily journal of the Democratic narrative. It is poison. Go elsewhere for the truth.

The National Review has argued about the New York Times's woeful reporting on various issues. They offer that the sloppy reporting is proof positive that the Grey Lady has become an unreliable shill. Its news coverage has "devolved into Left-wing malcontent, to the point where there is little if any qualitative difference between the Times and the political rag known as Nation. At least the Nation recognizes itself as a 'flagship of the left,' with no pretensions. The Times for its devolution still likes to pretend that it is the Newspaper of Record. Hah!

Secret #18 Huffington Post

Stay away from the Huffington (Puffington) Post. The Huffington Post was launched on May 9, 2005 as an alternative to news aggregators such as the Drudge Report. On February 7, 2011, AOL acquired the mass market Huffington Post for $315 million, making Arianna Huffington editor-in-chief of The Huffington Post Media Group.

Arianna Huffington is a known big time annoying liberal, and quite a few journalists working for HuffPost are 100% liberal as well. The site is a popular platform for activists and fringe-thinkers (often goofs) to publish their work. They only pay a small, core group of content creators a small amount.

How can I write for the Puffington: I would not want to—period. Their official company account explains how to give them your content for free, not how to become a paid writer for them. If you expect bad stuff with a biased topping, go have your dessert at the "Post." Know that some poor sap trying to become a writer prepared it for free.

Secret #19 National Public Radio

Stay away from National Public Radio (NPR).

Unfortunately, since all the Journalism schools teach with a liberal bias, even if NPR wanted to deliver real news or an honest slant on the news, it would have to hire plumbers and electricians or sanitary workers who could write as they would be able to provide pureness and cleanness and no bias with their news.

Remember the conservative sting on NPR top dog Schiller who was forced to resign over biased reporting. The liberal whiners still think it was unfair. The most vocal opponents of public funding often cite what they see as a left-leaning political bias at NPR as an argument that it does not deserve taxpayer help. I say if there is a bias, the public should not fund it. But then we would have to have a j-school major called unbiased journalism or nobody would be able to run the program.

Secret #20 CSPAN

CSPAN has a slightly liberal bias but it is hard to detect. Watch it but make sure you know the truth or look it up after certain reporters make their spiel. Jumbo from answers.yahoo.com took a crack at whether CSPAN was biased and here is what he/she said a few years ago: Yes CSPAN has a liberal bias.

Fox is the only channel that has a conservative bias, but unlike the liberal channels, Fox actually presents both sides of the debate by having many liberal analysts as guests on the shows. Hannity and O'Reilly have discussions/debate with liberals all the time, making the show very informative.

That's certainly not the case with the long-gone Olbermann and Maddow over at PMSNBC, who only have liberal politicians and leftist radicals as guests.

Secret #21 Mother Jones

Mother Jones: Is it a credible source? The question was asked on debate.org and 23% said yes and the rest said no.

The yes write-ups indicate a mistrust even when the facts are right because they get their facts from unreliable sources. The first no response said this: No way no how...They tow the socialist agenda line nothing more. The people that buy into it are complete morons. The writers are worse because they know the readers are dumb as dirt and will buy into the socialist narrative. Useful idiots all of them are too stupid to feel dumb most of the time.

Secret #22 Public Broadcasting System

Regarding publicly funded PBS, sometimes you have to find a good nut to get a good clue. For this we went to rightwingnuthouse.com as they seem to like to track nutcase situations in the US, especially those that are paid for by taxpayer dollars. Their one line response about liberal bias is:

LIBERAL BIAS? YOU'RE KIDDING!

"You've got to be completely clueless and totally out of touch not to know that the Public Broadcasting System has a decidedly liberal slant when it comes to programs that touch in any way on politics. Then again...there's the New York Times... PBS has been a liberal sacred cow almost since its inception. And while some of its non-political programming – including science shows like “Nova” and “Nature” – as well as its broadcast of the theater and music programs have made invaluable contributions to excellence in broadcasting, only the most willfully self-deluded would argue that its political programming is anything but a recitation of liberal themes and dogmas.

The Bill Moyers show was a perfect example. While Moyers occasionally had conservative guests on his interview show, the questions he asked were like “How many times did you beat your wife today”

Secret #23 Megyn Kelly

Be careful with Fox News' Megyn Kelly. She took on Donald Trump in the first debate like he was street trash and the Network has been suffering ever since.

Regardless of who becomes President, Fox viewers are not seeing Fox as a champion network to defeat Hillary Clinton, and it started with Megyn Kelly and she is not biased enough at a conservative level that she can be trusted with important matters.

Secret #24 Bill O'Reilly

Listen carefully to O'Reilly or do not listen at all. You can't 100% trust him. He is a Progressive Fox in conservative Faux clothing. He is so caught up in ratings, he's traded his conservatism for the balanced part of fair and balanced.

Fox News Bill O'Reilly has gotten under the skin of conservatives, nationalists, and populists for many years after first appearing as a hero. Over time, we have come to see O'Reilly as a guy for O'Reilly and his penchant to not take sides has irritated those looking for a spokesman on the atrocities occurring in our government.

Fox was once king of the hill but when guys like me graduate from the too-many untruths at Fox, we know we can go anywhere and recognize the lies because half of the time, you hear them in the Fox classroom. Radio is the only clear source of good news that does not try to play the Democrat narrative all day.

For more than a decade, Fox claimed success because of conservatives tuning in for their programming. Bill O'Reilly, Megyn Kelly, and Sean Hannity were at the top. But no longer! Stick to fair. Let the liberal media outlets do the "balanced" part. By the way, Sean Hannity is their #1 conservative and it is always a good show to watch.

Secret #25 Brit Hume

Don't trust Brit Hume's opinions as worthwhile. Brit Hume surprised a lot of Fox followers with his unfounded negatives against Donald Trump. Hume thinks he looks smart and we will go with anything he says. Not so! Until I saw his bias against Trump supporters, a preponderance of those registered GOP, along with guys like me who are simply conservative Democrats, I thought Hume was on our side to change the world for the good again.

What an insult he is to all those who voted in the primary for Donald trump. Is Hume better than us? He is supporting Hillary Clinton by not supporting Donald Trump. Let the wise Hume who I never once thought was a dummy until recently talk his way out of that one. Go away Brit. You are retired. Get your elitist establishment hat out of Fox News. You make us want to go radio only.

Recently Hume took over the Greta Van Susteren Show in the evening. Greta had given favorable treatment to Donald Trump. Hume is a Never Trumper. I hope no one will watch Brit Hume on Fox's Greta Van Susteren Show.

Secret #26 Charles Krauthammer

Do not believe Krauthammer on Trump. I respect Charles Krauthammer even though I totally disagree with him on many issues. He is dead wrong on Trump.

The dead will be Americans in a Hillary regime post Obama. Krauthammer is smart enough to get that. Fox had it all and decided with the moving on of Roger Ailes that it could do whatever it wanted and conservatives would be like the low information voters who cling to the liberal news media even before their morning coffee. Sorry Charlie! Find another job!

Secret #27 Karl Rove

Karl Rove is the worst Republican ever. He is not a conservative. He is a wallet monger and cares little about America. Who knows why he left Bush. I suspect Bush could no longer put enough in his fat wallet.

If you have any self-respect, ignore all the craptrap that Karl and his whiteboard dish out to you. This billionaire (let him deny it) will rely on your good will to deceive you as well as any Democratic leader can. If Rove loses his big bucks at Fox, he'll be over MSNBC the next minute. We do not need Karl Rove as a faux conservative.

Secret #28 Rupert Murdoch

I think Rupert Murdoch is OK. Mr. Murdoch owns Fox. He took over operations for Roger Ailes after the Fox beauties began to turn Ailes in apparently for looking and longing and saying and who knows whatever else. Maybe not? I hope not but... one never knows.

I always thought Murdoch was a liberal. I was wrong on Murdoch. I thought he was for Hillary. He is not!

In a statement provided to CNNMoney, Trump spokeswoman Hope Hicks said, "Mr. Trump is proud to receive the endorsement and has always had great respect for Mr. Ailes and Mr. Murdoch."

I am so glad that Fox is run by a guy who thinks like I do. He should talk to the ones like Rove et al and bring them back on-line. I wish things were not so bleak for Roger Ailes.

Secret #29 Sean Hannity

Sean Hannity loves America. You can listen to what he says and believe it. He is like me, a nationalist, populist conservative. It's clear that Hannity is standing with millions of his listeners on radio and watchers on Fox who, like me, feel betrayed by the Republican Party. Every election cycle, conservatives are forced to select between liberal Democrats or Mitt Romney-like RINO Republicans.

But this presidential cycle is different. Someone who speaks for the working men and women of America is officially the Republican presidential nominee! And Sean Hannity is now and has always been in the Donald Trump corner along with me.

Secret #30 Laura Ingraham

It is OK to respect Laura Ingraham and believe her and believe in her. She is one of us. She gave a great pro-Trump speech at the Republican Convention. She said what had to be said to the whiners in the Republican Party who figure they are out if Trump is in.

I hope they are long gone as they have not helped us against our mortal enemies—the Marxist Democrats while they held the power.

LAURA INGRAHAM AT THE CONVENTION: I want to say this very plainly. We should all, even all you boys with wounded feelings and bruised egos, and we love you, we love you, but you must honor your pledge to support Donald Trump now! Tonight. Tonight."

How can you not think the world of this lady?

Secret #31 Mark Steyn

Please know that Canadian-born Mark Steyn is really great. Rush Limbaugh forgave him when he did not embrace Donald Trump immediately and still brings him on as a talk show sub at times. Mark Steyn says what he thinks and mostly what I think and I sure hope he begins to tout trump as a potential savior even though he did not always see Mr. Trump that way. Please note, I did not say Messiah! Egos are very bruise-able and Donald Trump has bruised a few he might want to un-bruise.

Let me leave this small endorsing note from Mark Steyn as my proof that Steyn is on the side of America and thus on the side of Donald Trump. He is too good of a man to not credit for all the good he does in America, hoping it rubs off in Canada. “For many conservative voters, 2014 was the GOP's last chance, and they blew it. For those conservative voters whose priority is immigration, 2016 is America's last chance, and Trump's the only reason anyone's even talking about that.”
Thank you Mr. Steyn.

Secret #32 Bill Kristol

Forget about reading the National Review and Bill Kristol. The founder of the paper, William F. Buckley, Jr would be coming up with great barbs that we could only imagine if he were here to challenge Kristol. Bill Kristol drank some bad Kool-Aid for sure and is off on a Bill Kristol thing that cannot help America one bit.

And, so we have a guy I once listened to and thought was smart—now acting like a school kid. Kristol, The Weekly Standard editor and one time prominent GOP thinker has been so negative on Trump that he was on the phone trying to get has-beens like Romney to pick up the torch to save the elite establishment in Washington where Kristol lives and works.

Some simply explain it that Kristol accidentally landed in a very anti-Trump space. In a last gasp slur against Donald Trump, Kristol suggested that Trump “likes rapists.” This was a clear reference to Mike Tyson’s endorsement. Who knows why anybody endorses anybody! Billy Kristol ought to go to a counselling barber and get a good, long haircut and a few glasses of Muscatel rummy wine and then he should take a hot bath.

Secret #33 William F. Buckley, Jr.

If you hear that William F. Buckley Jr. has offered a commentary about the current presidential race, please listen to it or read it in whatever form it comes. It hopefully would be a past column or comment of the revered conservative Buckley who did not make many if any mistakes about the goodness of life always gave it his best, which happened to be about as anybody could ever write.

I did read a few things he had said about Trump fifteen years ago when Hillary was not the other choice for conservatives. Buckley would have had Trump over for a few faux manhattans and the two would have figured something out. Trump liked Buckley even though at one point, he was caustic towards a Trump earlier candidacy. I know I'd love to hear it from the deceased horses' mouth. Buckley was as smart as it gets.

Secret #34 Donald Trump

Listen to the words of Donald Trump as often as you can. You will notice that everybody in the establishment is against him. That's why we the people who live life outside of gated communities like him so much.

Trump is rich for sure and his family had some money when he was growing up. But, he worked in the trenches and his kids worked in the trenches to get as good as they are. Bravo! Trump is the American Dream. God bless him and keep him for us—the American people. We need somebody who loves America to fight for America. Donald Trump is our guy!

Secret #35 Vladimir Putin

It is OK to listen to Vladimir Putin but remember he loves Russia much more than he loves America. He admires Donald Trump but only in the way Americans admire Putin. Trump and Putin are men who act as men. Putin clearly places the needs of Russia and Russians above all else. Americans like that quality in Putin and have not found it in President Obama in his passive attitude towards our country.

The Americans I know want an America for Americans and we think Obama has taken a once great America and he has made many in our country feel like we are nothing. But, we are not nothing. We are something.

We would not trust Putin with our lives but we would love a President who feels as resolved about taking care of America for Americans as Putin feels he should take care of Russia for the Russians. Make America great again is the perfect mantra for any candidate for President. Donald Trump is for America! What is Hillary's mantra?

Secret #36 Wolf Blitzer

Do not pay heed to anything Wolf Blitzer says. Wolf Blitzer has been around for a long time and most of the time I thought he was married to somebody who seemed to hate America named Christianne Aman-purr. Sometimes we can know them by their names and other times we have to hear their diatribes to recognize whether they stand with us. Whether it is Blitzer or Aman-purr, they do not stand with Americans IMHO. Ignore anything either may say.

Secret #37 George Will

Please do not listen to George Will as a serious commentator. He is wounded just like Jeb Bush because he may be unemployed soon. George Will for years was recognized as having the biggest brain in America.

When his brain was at its biggest, he had to have all the doors resized to be able get in places. The brain was that big. Then, the brain started to think for itself and it began to give George bad information about so many things that even I, whose brain has been contained in humble surrounds for years, was able to comment about how George's big brain had gotten the best of him.

He "will" always have something to say eventually that sounds sensible but his big brain fools him nowadays, and it does not edit his thoughts appropriately regarding Donald Trump. His hate for the man overpowers even his huge brain.

Perhaps if we could rescue that great big brain and place it in the container once used by Captain Pike (before Kirk) in Star trek, all of mankind (except for George Will of course) could be safe again. Perhaps with a smaller brain post brainectomy, the new Mr. Will would agree. Plus, he may be able to get his job back at Fox! You know, the one where he worked out what was best for the people and not just the Will family.

Secret #38 Patrick Buchanan

Please pay attention if you ever have the distinct privilege of hearing the one and only Patrick Buchanan speak. I have this thing about loving people who love America and about developing a dislike for those who do not. Patrick Buchanan has the goods in his repertoire to help Donald Trump make America great again.

<http://buchanan.org/blog/>

His books are available at all bookstores but on the web your biggest hit would be

<https://www.amazon.com/Patrick-J.-Buchanan/e/B001H6O8KY>

You can learn enough from one Buchanan book to make up for a lot of civics lessons. I sure hope Mr. Buchanan winds up helping in the Trump campaign. He is a great man and a great American.

Secret #39 Michael Pollan

I never heard of liberal Michael Pollan myself before researching this book, but because of his major credentials (Liberal) I would not trust a thing he says—at least about politics. He is a writer and journalism professor at the University of California, Berkeley.

He is the author of The Omnivore's Dilemma and In Defense of Food. Pollan has had more influence than any other contemporary writer on mainstream American thinking about what we eat. His manifesto—"Eat food. Not too much. Mostly plants"—should now be in political vogue. (btw Obama likes arugula.)

I put him on so we conservatives can find who the liberals are in our society. Next thing, the first lady will be changing the diets of school children. Nah!

Secret #40 Kurt Andersen

Don't listen to Kurt Andersen. He is a writer and host of "Studio 360." He is a novelist, radio host and former editor of New York magazine. He has been a stalwart figure in American journalism since he co-founded Spy magazine in 1986.

His writing maps the contours of Obama's America, and his is a quietly consequential voice in the nation's culture wars. I suspect that in his quiet way, Kurt has contributed to the culture wars.

Secret #41 Reverend Jesse Jackson

The Reverend Jesse Jackson is not to be trusted as a conservative spokesperson. We cannot offer more than a page to anything or person in this book so we are going to look at just one of five of the outrageous things Jackson has said over the years.

Let's start at # 1 to see if it is conservative. The Reverend accused then Cleveland Cavaliers owner Dan Gilbert of having a “slave mentality” as it related to NBA superstar LeBron James’ departure to Miami in 2010. Said Jackson, “(Gilbert’s) feelings of betrayal personify a slave master mentality.

He sees LeBron as a runaway slave. This is an owner employee relationship — between business partners — and LeBron honored his contract.” The truth police discovered that LeBron left $133 million on the table to run off to Miami.

The bucks helped the Cavaliers make out pretty well. It’s hard to see how this could be qualified as ‘slave’ treatment. Bu then again, in 2016, the truth seems not to matter. BTW, Jackson is for Hillary. Maybe the bucks were so big even a race hustler might not mind getting into a bidding war.

Secret #42 Dr. Ben Carson

Dr. Ben Carson, a friend of Donald Trump, is one of the finest men in America. If you hear anything from him, please pay heed.

<https://www.bencarson.com/>

A short while ago, Ben Carson described the direction he sees America heading. “America right now is like a cruise ship that is about to go off of Niagara Falls with tremendous carnage and death,” Carson warned.

He offered a second warning to any and all third party candidates making a bid for the White House in 2016. He saw the Libertarian National Convention that yielded perhaps the party’s most formidable presidential ticket ever, and Dr. Ben painted a bleak picture of an election where the Democratic nominee reaps the benefit of a less-than-unified Republican Party.

His idea is that Republicans who abandon Trump are simply abandoning America. Bravo Ben Carson!

Secret #43 Chris Christie

The jury is still out on Chris Christie but he is looking better to me as he humbly supports Trump. I wrote a book about Christie titled, "Just Say No to Chris Christie for President" in 2013 and I recently put out a second edition that was not as critical with a more muted message, but it was not a trusting endorsement of our big NJ Governor. I too am big so this is not a size shot!

Christie has some choices. I would like to see him move from the guy blocking the bridge and the guy hugging Obama at the shore to becoming a solid nationalist, populist, conservative. With his support of Donald J. Trump, Governor Christie is on the right path. So, it is with cautious optimism that I encourage him to continue.

What do you say, Chris?

Secret #44 Barack Hussein Obama

The jury is in long ago on Barack Hussein Obama. He is simply untrustworthy and is either ambivalent about America and Americans or he actually dislikes us, especially if we may be white. Obama, who is half black and half-white, is a racist as he has chosen his black side instead of keeping both sides equal.

He does not care about white guys like me whose parents struggled with menial jobs just like black folks in America, renting half double blocks in lousy neighborhoods, with just three bedrooms for nine people and three small rooms downstairs with two coal stoves to cook with, to heat the water, and to heat the rest of the house.

From my white perspective, President Obama had a life of privilege compared to many of us poor whites in our home town. I know for sure that I am not a racist. I am not sure about the President who wants me to be hated by blacks.

I bet he never woke up in the morning in his home with mom or grand-mom and found the water he brought to bed the night before with a thin film of ice on it as the dampened coal fire did not heat so well that night. President Obama is nice to everybody but the bulk of whites—those like him from privilege, and those like me from near poverty conditions. He can use the rest of his life to lift us all up, rather than put selected portions of our society down – those portions he happens not to like.

Secret #45 Hillary Clinton

Do not believe what you hear from Hillary Clinton. Always ready to forgive when someone offers contrition for their misdeeds, I do not see any contrition from Mrs. Clinton on her email issues, Benghazi, or a number of other issues such as her affection for criminals over police. I hope one day she becomes a better person. We all answer to a higher power.

Townhall.com gives the top five reasons why Hillary is unfit to be President. She has had 30 years of promises and no fulfillment. She says Trump is unfit simply because he is not a corrupt politician. Here are their five reasons.

- 1) She's responsible for Benghazi.
- 2) She hasn't accomplished anything in 30 years.
- 3) She's a liar's liar.
- 4) She belongs in jail.
- 5) She is utterly corrupt

Secret #46 Al Sharpton

Do not pay heed to Reverend Al. Reverend Al Sharpton has a lot of chutzpah and has gained a lot of power but he chooses not to use it well. Rev. Al Sharpton has had a long “career” of making money off of racism.

He is the definition of a race hustler, and has made millions of dollars. At a time when America could use a voice of reason on the streets, Sharpton offers only anger and vitriol.

His efforts have caused riots and deaths, while his political connections have given him unprecedented White House access and seemingly have allowed him to avoid prosecution for not paying Federal taxes. You and I would be in jail if we had his rap sheet.

The irony about the current race issues in America is that if the supposed doctors of the race solution actually tried to help all Americans, it would go a long way for all of us to get along together as we did before the Obama post racial era.

Secret #47 Paul Krugman

Paul Krugman preaches voodoo economics. Stay away from him. He is rated the most liberal economist in the US.

Worse than that, Krugman is not very good in economics. He is, however, as obstinate in his progressive stance as his #1 position suggests.

Writing for Forbes, John C. Goodman noted recently that Krugman has become an embarrassment to the economics profession despite picking up a Nobel Prize and his once high regard in the profession.

His New York Times editorials are causing even progressive economists to view him as a kook. Krugman is one of my least favorite authors and he is a faux economist. He writes in such a way as to portray all non-Paul Krugman's as being against the poor. Keeping people chained to big government is the Krugman way. He is OK with the people receiving their daily alms.

Somehow he thinks this improves the economy more than if people were encouraged to do their best in life. It is a way to make government, which I do not trust, more powerful than it should be. Whenever I see a bleeding heart progressive liberal touting how the US treasury is in place to provide benefits to the poor, I always doubt sincerity.

Secret #48 Jon Stewart

Pay no attention to the lies and lies about lies of Jon Stewart the "comedian."

Over his years on the Daily Show, Stewart got very good at sorting through all the news quickly, making up and missing pieces of the narrative, and turning it all around into biting, relevant satire that worked for him with audiences on TV and the Internet.

He seemed funny. Some have said that he was both a comedian posing as a newsman and a newsman posing as a comedian. He was entertaining but he had a political mission that he could not talk about. He was always an Obama operative. No kidding!

His late-night satire was characterized as liberal progressive. He skewered Republicans regularly for absurd statements or pompousness or flagrant hypocrisy, and as noted when the narrative did not fit, he had no problem making things up. He was a very influential player for liberalism. He had a solemn mission to protect Obama as long as he possibly could. It has been proven that Stewart had secret meetings with President Obama about how the President could get his message of liberalism through to Millennials using the "Daily Show" as a vehicle for the transmission of propaganda. Are you surprised?

Secret #49 Thomas Friedman

Pay no attention to the opinions and lies of Thomas Friedman as spewed in the New York Times, which National Review has called an unreliable shill. Thomas Friedman is a hard core liberal progressive who has met the truth on several occasions, but likes to go his own way.

He is one of the leading progressive op-ed writers in the country and working for the Times, his stuff is often read and discussed. Some, such as author Benjamin Korn writing for israelnationalnews.com go so far as to offer that Thomas Friedman's whole career is built on a lie and that this Israel-bashing NYT columnist has a major credibility problem.

He cites an August 12 1995 column in which Friedman accused Israel's IDF of massacring Arab civilians. "Friedman's sense of self-importance is legendary; evidently he assumes that everyone has read and memorized his book. But for those who have not, the term 'Hama Rules' was his little nickname for the policy of then-Syrian tyrant Hafez Assad when he massacred tens of thousands of civilians in the Syrian city of Hama in 1982. So Friedman sees no difference between Israeli and Syrian policy regarding civilian casualties... Such lies should not surprise anyone familiar with Friedman's track record." Enough said!

Secret #50 Alan Keyes

Listen to anything Alan Keyes says to you in speeches or in his writings as gospel and you will gain immensely. He is brilliant, well spoken, and honest. Alan Keyes went through early State Department training with my good friend Josh Mohanco. Josh thinks the world of him.

Alan Lee Keyes is an American conservative political activist, author, former diplomat, and some say a perennial candidate for public office. I credit him for his tenacity. He ran against Obama in what appeared to be a rigged election for US Senator from Illinois in 2004.

He has little good to say about Barack Obama. Keyes believes the president has committed several high crimes and misdemeanors that warrant impeachment. On this point, he has a lot of conservative support. In support of his recommendation for impeachment, Keyes compares Obama's abuse of conscience to slavery. When I read about the slavery of my ancestors, what touched me most and what seemed most horrific to me was not that somebody would force you to labor, not that somebody would force you with whips and stripes and things like this to do their bidding, but when their bidding absolutely contradicted your conscientious understanding of what God required. That they could force you to do evil. And that's what's happening in our country now," Keyes said.

Secret #51 Allen West

Listen to Allen West. He is a great man. Allen West lost his job in Congress when Florida Voters chose Patrick Murphy. West then asked himself:

“Why would anyone want to get rid of a person that is born and raised in the inner city, third of four generations in the military—just an American success story?...I’m not some guy that came from a rich political family or anything like that, I’m just an everyday guy, but I have a passion for my country.

West still is a Republican hero. He lost because there is a lot of propaganda negative to the TEA Party. Liberals own the press and they are not known for honesty. West had made a name for himself as a blunt spokesman for nationalism, populism, and is still a favorite of conservatives across the country.

West is no fan of Obama and is an ardent supporter of Donald Trump: He cannot understand why the GOP establishment believes top GOP contender Donald trump cannot win: “Well, I don’t know where people are getting he cannot win when yet he keeps winning,” West said. “Look at the massive amount of Democrats that are changing their registration over to Republican for Trump... Great!

Secret #52 Monica Crowley

Monica Crowley is on our side. Feel free to take what she says and believe it. She will not try to make you a low-information voter. She is an American conservative columnist, political commentator, talk radio personality, and author. She is known for her many appearances on Fox News.

She is currently the online opinion editor for The Washington Times and she is a regular columnist. She recently wrote: "This is the professional left whose aim is to sow chaos and violence in order to facilitate the tear-down of the existing order. They have been at this for decades and are quite good at it. One of the ringleaders of the violent anti-Trump protests in Chicago in March? Sixties Marxist revolutionary and domestic terrorist Bill Ayers. The anti-Vietnam protests, Occupy Wall Street, Black Lives Matter: It's all the same organized, well-financed leftist revolution, led by many of the same radicals. By identifying the "great silent majority,"

Mr. Nixon told good, decent, law-abiding Americans that help was on the way, because he was one of them—silent majority. In using the same phrase, Mr. Trump is signaling the same thing. It's a powerful political sentiment. But more importantly, it's a potent emotional sentiment, which both men have used to great effect.

Secret #53 Judge Andrew Napolitano

Judge Napolitano is one of the good guys so he is worthy of your time. He is associated with Fox News. He is a great legal mind, analyst of the facts, and a fine speculator:

What if there were terrible secrets that Clinton wanted to keep from the public and for that reason she used private servers and non-government-issued mobile devices? What if those terrible secrets involved her enabling unlawful behavior of her husband and his shoddy, unlawful foundation?

What if Mrs. Clinton made decisions as secretary of state that were intended to enrich her husband and herself and she needed to keep emails about those decisions away from the public? "What if the president recognized all this and authorized the FBI to conduct criminal investigations of Mrs. Clinton?

"What if, after the ascendancy of Donald Trump in the Republican presidential primaries, the president warmed up to his former rival? What if Trump so got under the president's skin that it drove him to embrace Clinton as his chosen successor and as the one Democrat who could prevent a Trump presidency?

"What if the president sent word to the Department of Political Justice to exonerate Clinton no matter what evidence was found against her? What ifs make us all think. That's how we become and stay high information voters.

Secret #54 Judge Jeanine Pirro

If you are looking for a nice news / commentary fix on the weekend, make sure you watch Judge Jeanine Pirro's show "Justice with Judge Jeanine," which premiered in January 2011 Fox News' Judge Jeanine Pirro is not afraid to speak her mind. That's why conservatives love watching her show!

Now, she has announced that the 2016 presidential election is too important to sit on the sidelines. That's why she's backing conservative businessman Donald J. Trump for President.

She supports Trump's fearlessness in dealing with the Republican establishment, who have failed to stop Obama's radical agenda during the past 8 years. This is why she recently Tweeted about it:

Tweet from Jeanine Pirro ---@JudgeJeanine-- "Mitch McConnell uses FEAR tactics against @realDonaldTrump so establishment cronies can feather their nests. American people be damned."

You just gotta love her moxie. I would love to see her as the #1 Supreme Court Justice.

Secret #55 USA Today

Be careful when reading USA Today. It is not heavy but the fact is that virtually all media are "Liberal!" That should pause us for more than a second to see that something is not right here; literally!

Secret #56 Joe Scarborough

Be careful what you believe from MSBBC's Joe Scarborough 'Morning Joe!' First of all he is from MSNBC, the most liberally biased network of all. Ironically, recently Joe is not biased enough for CNN. They think he likes Trump. If this is so, then it is great. I see little evidence of this but here goes:

CNN media correspondent Brian Stelter and Baltimore Sun media critic David Zrawik have been having "fun" blasting MSNBC host Joe Scarborough...for his "unashamed" bias in favor of Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump. In a recent article for CNN Money, Dylan Byers reported that Scarborough's personal affection and public political advice for Trump had become a source of embarrassment for executives at NBC.

On a Sunday's edition of Reliable Sources, Stelter noted that Scarborough's show, Morning Joe, was often referred to as Morning Trump." Well, I'll be!

Secret #57 Washington Post

Watch what you read or believe in the Washington Post. There's not much there for conservatives. Let's take a look at Harvard, a liberal outlet just like the University to see what flop they can come up with about the Post.

In publishing a column called slanted news, the Beacon Press outdid themselves by performing a notable service for thoughtful Americans. It contains what some say is a slim but meaty volume of the first valid survey of the question of bias in our country's newspapers.

The premise is that American newspapers have on the whole become fairer over the years in their news presentation. Hah! Well, as with all of liberalism, you have to “follow the money”. They do like cash. That's why almost all urban newspapers are liberal as wealth concentrates itself in cities and always has throughout history.

And since cities are liberal, their newspapers think that liberalism is the reason for all the top-drawer apartments, great restaurants, good teeth, hot parties and nice clothes. ‘The Washington area's affluence and education levels make it the wealthiest and most educated region in the nation, and the Nation's Capital full of corrupt representatives and lobbyists is right around the corner. What can we expect from the Post?

Secret #58 The Washington Times

If you read it in the Washington Times, more than likely it is true. The Washington Times is an American daily newspaper, published as a broadsheet at 3600 New York Avenue NE, Washington, D.C., United States. Its slogan is, "America's Newspaper", The Times covers general interest topics with a particular emphasis on American politics.

It is one of the first broadsheets in the United States to adopt color photography, its daily edition is distributed throughout DC and sections of Maryland and Virginia. It also has a weekly tabloid edition aimed for the national audience.

The editorial slant of the Washington Times is notably conservative and partisan in favor of the Republican Party. The Times enjoys poking fun at the liberal media and correcting them. In a recent piece, for example, they debunked one of the mainstream news media's favorite myths that GOP presidential nominee Donald Trump is not popular with women.

They published a new study from the Center for Responsive Politics that strongly suggests otherwise: "Trump is doing surprisingly well with women donors," reports Alec Goodwin, an analyst for the nonprofit watchdog.

Secret # 59 The Nation

If you are a conservative, this will not help you solidify your positive thinking. The Nation features what many suggest is some of the best left-of-center writers of this country. Articles cover social and political issues.

Secret #60 The Boston Globe

You won't get a good truthful slant on articles in the liberal progressive Boston Globe. Ironically, being owned by the Gray Lady does not silence some reporters at the Globe, and that is good. Jeff Jacoby recently wrote: "The hive on Eighth Avenue," he wrote, referring to the Times's headquarters, "is powerfully shaped by a culture of like minds — a phenomenon, I believe, that is more easily recognized from without than from within."

He credited the papers' editors and reporters with trying to enforce "fairness and balance" in their presidential campaign coverage. But by and large, what appears in the Times "virtually bleeds" with "political and cultural progressivism." The result is that "developments like the Occupy movement and gay marriage seem almost to erupt in the Times... more like causes than news subjects." (The Boston Globe is owned by The New York Times Company.)

Secret #61 The LA Times

To get the truth and nothing but the truth, do not go read the liberal progressive Los Angeles Times. The Times is a daily newspaper founded in 1881. It has the distinction of being the largest metropolitan daily newspaper in the U.S with 1.4 million people reading the newspaper each day and another 2.4 million readers on Sundays.

The LA Times was once a steady reliable news source and from 1942 gained 44 Pulitzer Prizes. Their media bias leans left. When the LA Times was first published in the late 1800s, it was mainly directed at Republican readers. Now, the AllSides Bias Rating™ for the Times leans left. The rules of journalism have been rewritten in the LA Times regarding Clinton and Trump.

Even the Sonoma County Press-Democrat, a local paper is so clearly in the tank for Hillary Clinton that many cannot stand to read it. After Trump's acceptance speech, the front page had two stories one very judgmental, and then a "fact check" hit job disputing every point made. After Clintons DNC speech, it was all flowers and roses describing her nomination as "historic," "inspiring" and "trailblazing." It is what it is. California and the LA Area are not going to give Trump a fair shot and they'll lie as they must.

Secret #62 The Economist

Good facts are for the having in the economist. It's OK to believe what you read. Many see it as an outstanding British newsmagazine which covers economic conditions, current events and politics around the world. It leans conservative.

Secret #63 Harper's

Hold your nose if you read this liberal garbage Harper's. It is simply a liberal opinion magazine with commentary on contemporary politics, culture and society. If somebody quotes it, it is probably inexact.

Secret #64 The Baltimore Sun

If you want the truth of the light of day in your reading material, do not pick the Baltimore Sun. The Sun does not shine in Baltimore.

Paul Apple writes the following for Bible Outlines about the Baltimore Sun. "I have come to the conclusion that it is way past time for the Setting of the Baltimore Sun due to its liberal bias and hostile opposition to the political platform of evangelical Christianity..."

Local churches should take the lead in mobilizing their people to cancel their subscriptions (accompanied by phone calls of explanation) as well as to apply pressure to advertisers who provide the financial base for the newspaper.

Why should conservative dollars shore up an unnecessary media – especially one that is blatantly adversarial? Conservative evangelicals historically have floundered in trying to impact the political process effectively. The Los Angeles Times has already experienced significant staff layoffs that can be traced at least in part to its liberal bias."

Secret #65 Time Magazine

Pretending to be in the middle, Time has a problem not drifting left so be careful what you read there. Time has the world's largest circulation for a weekly news magazine, and has a readership of 26 million, 20 million of which are based in the United States.

As of 2012, it had a circulation of 3.3 million making it the eleventh most circulated magazine in the United States reception room circuit, and the second most circulated weekly behind People Magazine. It is similar in content and format to the two other major U. S. newsmagazines, Time sees its mission as a periodical covering the news from a centrist point of view. Despite their own thinking, many others label Time liberal or leftist.

Secret #66 U. S. News & World Report

I was once a subscriber in my print media days when I subscribed to many business periodicals. I enjoyed USN&WR. I did not detect much overt bias. U. S. News & World Report has earned a reputation as the leading provider of service news and information that improves the quality of life of its readers by focusing on health, personal finance, education, travel, cars, news and opinion.

It is one of just three major newsweeklies published in the United States today. The magazine tends to focus on the practical issues associated with current events. It is rated by most to be moderately conservative.

Secret #67 Taxation w/o Representation

This is a fine book in its third edition as written by your author. The book relies on the Constitution, the founding documents, Articles of Association, Declaration of Rights and Grievances, Declaration of Independence, and the Bill of Rights. Taxation without Representation unearths and explores a massive dilemma for U.S. Citizens.

The US began without representation. Then, the Colonies fought a war of independence to acquire representation. Now, our beloved representatives have fallen for the candy coated wiles of the new kids on the block--obscenely rich mega-corporations and members of the establishment of both parties. This book offers a walk-through about how our government once was, how it improved, and how it again eroded and regressed from freedom to a new set of oppressive roots.

The book highlights the major issues affecting the American worker, particularly the wholesale exportation of jobs to legal and illegal foreign nationals.

Our representative democratic republic is definitely in trouble. While pointing out definitively that we pay too much in taxes, this book also offers a number of unique solutions to help get us back on a track of which the founders would smile.

Secret #68 The Drudge Report

The Drudge Report has it all and it is true from a conservative point of view. Read with pleasure but watch the liberal stories. The Drudge Report <http://www.drudgereport.com/> is a politically conservative American news aggregation website.

Run by Matt Drudge with the help of Charles Hurt, the site consists mainly of links to stories from the United States and International mainstream media about politics, entertainment, and current events; it also has links to many columnists. Occasionally, Drudge authors new stories himself, based on tips.

The Drudge Report originated in 1996 as a weekly subscriber-based email dispatch. It was the first news source to break the Monica Lewinsky scandal to the public, after Newsweek decided to hold its story.

Secret #69 The Wall Street Journal

You can safely read the Wall Street Journal. The Wall Street Journal is controlled by Rupert Murdoch via Dow Jones Publications, which in turn is owned by Murdoch's News Corp. Murdoch owns a controlling 39.4% voting stake in both News Corp and 21st Century Fox. News Corp purchased the newspaper for $6 billion in 2007 from the Bancroft family. It is a mostly conservative, business-oriented publication, but it is less overtly political than Murdoch's other major media outlet, Fox News.

Sometimes the Journal goes off the conservative reservation so watch out.

Secret #70 Chicago Tribune

Looks like there is enough good conservative matter in the Chicago Tribune that it is an OK read for a prospective high information voter.

It is one of the major papers typically with a particularly conservative editorial page bent.

Secret #71 Bill Press

Bill Press is somebody whose opinion good conservatives like to ignore. Press is the author of six books. He is currently the host of radio's nationally syndicated Bill Press Show (Monday-Friday from 6-9am ET). He is a liberal progressive insider and attends the daily White House press briefing.

He is a busy guy and writes a syndicated newspaper column. He and Pat Buchanan used to duke it out a while back on the Sunday Crossfire shows. Very enjoyable but Press is quite annoying and often gave the "mean" look when reaching crescendo on Buchanan.

Secret #72 Leslie Marshall

If you don't want to be annoyed by bias BS from the far left, stay away from Leslie Marshall. It is my recommendation for those aspiring to learn the truth in politics. She joined Fox News Channel as a contributor in 2009; providing analysis on both political and social issues from a liberal point of view.

She represents the "balanced" part of Fox that really stretches the truth and makes one think of Pinocchio. She is as accomplished as annoying for a guy tuning in to get the scoop without the crap. She is a nationally syndicated talk show host and can be heard on radio, stream, "Tune In," "The Progressive Voices Radio Network," and "The Armed Forces Radio Network."

She also writes a weekly blog column for US News & World Report and POLITIX but to remain unaffected while learning, stay away. Additionally, she was one of the liberal voices each month on the "Mike Huckabee" radio show.

Secret #73 Bob Beckell

If Bob Beckel is on the air, listen to little as he spins the truth to the left. I can't say that I miss Beckel, who is no longer a Fox News employee. Some say he was best known on Fox as the salty liberal panelist on the Network's hit midday talk show. They say he is now looking ferociously for work.

I would like him at MSNBC more than Rachel Maddow. Give that a shot Bob. Beckel had undergone back surgery and, later, that he had also sought rehabilitation therapy for addiction to prescription pain medication. Beckel's employment status with Fox remained supposedly for a long time unchanged, but it sure bow looks like a permanent departure.

Big Bob Beckel, the annoying one, had been with Fox News since first signing a contributor contract in 2000, and then officially joining as a regular co-host of The Five in July 2011.

Most of his non-hosting appearances occurred as a panelist on Hannity or as the "Democratic strategist" half of panel discussions during Fox's daytime news broadcasts. He stole the show for the liberal cause and would not give it up even when wrong 100%.

Secret #74 Mike Huckabee

If you ever have a chance to listen to Mike Huckabee for any reason, feel free to believe him as he is a major truth-teller. He is an early Donald Trump supporter also. He does not like the Democrat running against Trump.

Mike Huckabee called Hillary Clinton "Hellary" in comments posted his website. Huckabee knows how to talk very well: "Those who lead the political and financial institutions will push strongly that we 'go along' our path and elect 'Hellary' Clinton," Huckabee warned from Liverpool, England, in a post celebrating Britain's referendum vote to leave the European Union. "There will be a large number (I believe a majority) who in spite of the uncertainty of specific policies, will vote to kick the political and financial institutions in their wide and arrogant rear-ends.

"America can afford to welcome immigrants who want to assimilate into America, but CANNOT afford to lose its culture and country to those who have no intention of speaking English, accepting the American Constitution of fundamental rights of the individual and of private property, and the moral authority based on the Judeo-Christian tradition," Huckabee says it like it is and that's why pro-Americans such as Mike Huckabee are revered in America. Ask his neighbors on the Gulf!

Secret #75 Why Trump?

Yes, Read it! It is a great book. I wrote it about a week ago, so feel free to read it with no demerits as you achieve high information voter status. A simple title but a book crock full of what everybody in America needs to know. Donald Trump is the only candidate for president who offers Americans a breath of fresh air from the stodgy, bossy, establishment elites in both the Democratic and Republican Party.

Trump is against the status quo of rich donors controlling the government for their personal benefit.

Donald J. Trump is a Nationalist with great values. Look at the goodness he instilled into his own children. He is not a liberal fool or a progressive socialist who hates America. He is simply for America and Americans First. The corrupt mainstream press controlled by the Democratic Party won't give Donald Trump an inch.

If Mr. Trump happened to be crossing the street and he stepped off a curb and crushed a newly fallen fully formed beautiful blue Robin Egg, the press would hang him for being anti-bird, anti-animal, and uncaring. Meanwhile Hillary can get four Americans with mothers and fathers killed with impunity.

Secret #76 Saving America the Trump Way!

This is another one of my books so feel free to read it with no demerits as you continue your trek to achieve high information voter status. If you got this far in this book without skipping Secrets, you are there already. This book offers a number of unique solutions to save America from economic ruin. You won't believe how much America needs this book until you have gone through the problems and solutions as outlined. We all need Donald Trump and Mike Pence to bring America back.

America has more than one economic issue for sure, but it still is the best place to live on earth. Our nation is full to the brim with economic issues. When tackled one by one, they all can be solved. This book shows how to solve the problems that prevent many people in American from having a good life. Donald Trump and Mike Pence have a mission to make life better for all Americans

It seems that all Americans are hunting for jobs. Yet, when we engage the jobs' marketplace with much tolerance, and we still find no work, we intrinsically know that it is not our fault. Today, too much government is the problem. It is in our way of succeeding. It is also in the way of businesses naturally solving their own problems; becoming successful and hiring lots of people.

Secret #77 Dennis Prager

Enjoy Dennis Prager to your heart's content. He is one of the good ones. The LA Times says he is "An amazingly gifted man and moralist whose mission in life has been crystallized – 'to get people obsessed with what is right and wrong.'" Toastmasters calls him "One of America's five best speakers."

Buzz Magazine say he is one of the ten most powerful people in Los Angeles . . . a moral compass. On Radio and TV, Prager is one of America's most respected radio talk show hosts. He has been broadcasting on radio in Los Angeles since 1982.

His popular show became nationally syndicated in 1999 and airs live, Monday through Friday, 9:00 AM to Noon (Pacific Time) from his home station, KRLA. Widely sought after by television shows for his opinions, he's appeared on Fox and Friends, Red Eye, Hardball, Hannity, CBS Evening News, The Today Show and many others. He's worth the watch.

Secret #78 Hugh Hewitt.

You will enjoy listening to Hugh Hewitt without any lies getting in the way. He was born February 22, 1956) and is currently an American radio talk show host with the Salem Radio Network, lawyer, academic, and author. He is a conservative and a Catholic.

He comments on society, politics, and media bias in the United States. Professor Hewitt is best known as the host of his radio show, which has an audience estimated at more than 2 million listeners every week. Since its debut in July of 2000, Professor Hewitt has conducted groundbreaking interviews with government officials from both parties and widely respected analysts, authors and pundits.

In a 2006 profile of Hewitt for The New Yorker, the dean of the Columbia University School of Journalism told his readers that Hewitt was “the most influential conservative you have never heard of.” He writes daily for his blog, HughHewitt.com, which is among the most visited political blogs in the U.S. He is also a weekly columnist for The Washington Examiner and Townhall.com.

Secret #79 Herman Cain

Herman Cain is the best. Ever since his 999 plan rocked the nation and he was the Campaign front-runner among Republicans. Long before the Democrats were forced to smear him due to his success in his campaign, Cain has been one of my personal favorites. Please listen to him. He tells the truth and says it like it is.

He went from being Atlanta “WSB’s Herman Cain” to being a National Icon. Now, Herman is coming back to AM 750 and 95.5 FM News-Talk WSB on a daily basis...with all the opinions, analysis and problem-solving that made him so popular on the campaign trail! You can listen to Herman every Monday through Friday at 8:45am and 6:45pm for his exclusive commentary and political analysis.

Secret #80 Thomas Sowell

Thomas Sowell is great. You will enjoy reading his many works. Please do. He was born in North Carolina and grew up in Harlem. As with many others in his neighborhood, Thomas Sowell left home early and did not finish high school. The next few years were difficult ones, but eventually he joined the Marine Corps and became a photographer in the Korean War.

After leaving the service, Thomas Sowell entered Harvard University, worked a part-time job as a photographer and studied the science that would become his passion and profession: economics. Sowell has published a large volume of writing.

His dozen books, as well as numerous articles and essays, cover a wide range of topics, from classic economic theory to judicial activism, from civil rights to choosing the right college. Moreover, much of his writing is considered ground-breaking -- work that will outlive the great majority of scholarship done today.

In 1990, Sowell won the prestigious Francis Boyer Award, presented by The American Enterprise Institute. Currently Thomas Sowell is a senior fellow at the Hoover Institute in Stanford, Calif.

Secret #81 Neil Boortz

Neil Boortz is a thinking man's radio host. You'll like him. He's not perfect but he does not lie. He's with Herman Cain on Atlanta's Morning News at 8:45am. Somebody's gotta say it, and the "High Priest of the Church of the Painful Truth" is just the guy.

A devout Libertarian, Boortz earns the rancor of both Republicans and Democrats, and the feeling is mutual. But as Neal himself says, "If two people agree on everything, one of them isn't necessary." For 40+ years, Mr. Boortz, an attorney turned talk host turned New York Times best-selling author, has engaged, enraged, and entertained listeners first in Atlanta and now nationwide for an audience of more than 4 million listeners.

Boortz is the standard among Atlanta's talk radio hosts and his ratings show it. He's been on the air since 1969 and on 95.5FM/AM750 News/Talk WSB since 1993.

Secret #82 The Constitution 4 Dummmies

If you want an entertaining and informative look at the whole Constitution, this Brian Kelly book (me) is for you. The Constitution 4 Dummmies!

It is the best thing you can do to understand your role in assuring our great form of government. This book is the best starter book for anybody wanting to refresh their knowledge or learn about the government and its most basic structure and laws.

It is designed to help you be better prepared to react to the over-reach of corrupt politicians at the highest levels of government. Without the knowledge that you can gain easily in this book, for example, you might think that your representatives in Congress control you instead of vice-verse.

Smart people do not let their freedoms be taken from them, and you have entered into the realm of the intelligent by learning about the fundamental laws of America from the founders onward. These are the laws that assure your freedom. This book presents them in an understandable and almost fun way. Today more than ever with our President and Congress acting in a lawless fashion or permitting lawlessness to be the law of the land, Americans need to know our rights and the protections built into the basic framework of our government formed by the US Constitution. Why did we wait so long?

Secret #83 Ann Coulter

Ann Coulter is a great writer and she says things you need to hear in a way that grabs your attention. Ann Coulter is the author of eight New York Times bestsellers including The Case Against Bill Clinton (August 1998).

She is the legal correspondent for Human Events and writes a popular syndicated column for Universal Press Syndicate. Her cutting tongue makes her a great and frequent guest on many TV shows, including The Today Show, Good Morning America, The Early Show, The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, Hannity, The O'Reilly Factor, The Glen Beck Show, HBO's Real Time with Bill Maher. She has been profiled in numerous publications, including TV Guide, the Guardian (UK), the New York Observer, National Journal, Harper's Bazaar, and Elle magazine.

You may not like her but you will not turn the channel when she is on the air.

Secret #84 Pam Geller

Pam Geller is a very worthwhile personality and is a very brave lady. When you can hear her or see her in action, or read her stuff, it is worth your time. She is the founder, editor and publisher of Atlas Shrugs.com and executive director of the American Freedom Defense Initiative (AFDI) and Stop Islamization of America (SIOA). She has been the subject of a profile on 60 Minutes, and of a cover story in the Sunday New York Times.

Secret #85 Sarah Palin

Sarah Palin has a down-home style of speech and she uses it to deliver important messages for America. She is worth your time.

She entered politics in 1992. In 2006, she became the youngest and first female governor of Alaska. John McCain picked her as his VP candidate in 2008, and the nasty, corrupt, biased mainstream press did its best to eliminate her and her family from any future consequence. Yet, she is resilient and she came back and now these elitists fear Mrs Palin. She is a frequent guest on major talk shows and she has endorsed Donald Trump for President. Bravo Mrs. Palin. Thank you for the work you do on our behalf.

Secret #86 Star Parker

Star Parker has a lot to say about America and she says it well. I have been reading her stuff since we both were columnists for Conservative Action Alerts until the organization moved on to other things.

Hers is one of the names on the short list mentioned when anyone speaks of national black conservative leaders. I like to think of her simply as a national conservative leader as she is color blind. Before involvement in social activism, Star had seven years of first-hand experience in the grip of welfare dependency.

After consulting on federal Welfare Reform in the mid-90s, she founded UrbanCure to bring new ideas to policy discussions on how to transition America's poor from government dependency. Parker regularly consults with both federal and state legislators on market-based strategies to fight poverty; she has spoken on more than 190 colleges and universities about anti-poverty initiatives; has authored several books; and is a nationally syndicated columnist with Creators Syndicate. She is one of the good ones.

Secret #87 Walter Williams

Walter Williams is a great writer and speaker and he is worth every conservative's time. He was born March 31, 1936) and has led a life as an American economist, commentator, and academic.

He is the John M. Olin Distinguished Professor of Economics at George Mason University, as well as a syndicated columnist and author known for his classical liberal and libertarian conservative views. His writings frequently appear on Townhall.com, WND, Jewish World Review, and hundreds of newspapers throughout the United States.

Williams offers sound advice on immigration such as: " Many pro-amnesty supporters offer the canard that there are 12 to 20 million illegal immigrants in our country. We cannot keep every illegal immigrant out or expel the ones living here. That might be true, but it is also true that we can't prevent every rape and murder. Does that mean we shouldn't attempt to enforce the laws against rape and murder and try to prosecute the perpetrators?"

The purpose of this book is to make their Federalist Papers easier to read and comprehend. A Companion Book: The Federalist Papers by Hamilton, Jay, & Madison, edited by Brian W. Kelly is available on Amazon Kindle

Besides his radio work, Mike is seen on Fox News Channel as an on-air contributor, frequently appearing on the cable news giant. He's also a best-selling author, having written two books: Surrounded by Idiots: Fighting Liberal Lunacy in America (William Morrow) and 50 Things Liberals Love to Hate (Threshold), a humorous, insightful romp about the many things liberals seem to hate. Gallagher has a great wit, having appeared on stage and film as an actor.

When you have the chance, listen to Mike!

Jim also previously hosted the weekend news magazine America This Week. He is a 50-year-plus broadcasting veteran.

Secret #92 Newt Gingrich

If you want to read anything really good, look for something written by Newt Gingrich. As the author of 27 books and hundreds of articles, he is one of the best authors in the world. Newt is an intense conservative and can out debate anybody in America or in the world. He is as good as it gets. He is an ardent Trump supporter.

With his "Contract with America," former Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich established his position as the head of the anti-Clinton Republican wave in 1994.

After the 1994 mid-term elections, Newt Gingrich became the first Republican Speaker of the House in 40 years. Most of the legislative items in his well-publicized "Contract with America" were passed by the House and many became law. His term as Speaker was marked by his opposition to many of Clinton's policies, which led to a budget showdown, government shutdowns, and acrimonious impeachment proceedings. However, Gingrich and Clinton also reached agreements on welfare reform, a capital gains tax cut, and a budget deal that led to four straight balanced budgets. Gingrich resigned from Congress in 1999. In May 2011 Gingrich announced he would seek the Republican nomination for president in 2012. In 2016, he is fully backing Donald Trump and he offers Mr. Trump his great counsel.

Secret #93 Sol Bloom

Sol Bloom's Epoch "... Story of the Constitution" was remastered by Brian Kelly. It truly is Epoch! It is the greatest remastering with annotations of the greatest work ever on the Constitution—built for all Americans. Bloom's 1937 book itself is a masterful work to read in order to refresh or gain knowledge of the greatest laws of our land, & how our government works. Understand your rights & your freedoms, so that nobody in government can take them from you!

Learn about why you love America so much by reading Sol Bloom's Epoch Story of the Constitution. Sol Bloom's book has been the best teaching tool about the Constitution in education for many years because it is written for ordinary people.

This book is the best starter book for anybody wanting to refresh some knowledge and gain a lot more about government and its most basic structure and laws. Listening to Sol Bloom's messages is like "hearing" the words of early colonialism and the fight for freedom from the founders themselves. This book will help all of us be better prepared to react to the over-reach of corrupt politicians at the highest levels of government. Bloom hated corruption, and you can learn why by reading this monumental historical work.

Secret # 94 Kill the Republican Party

Nobody's talking about killing anybody but the Republican elite establishment do need to be driven from this conservative party. The best way is to give them the name, kill the 1% of the party that is left and form the American Party. In the book by the same name, Brian Kelly says the following: In this second edition, we again emphasize that conservative Americans as well as nationalists, populists, as well as Americans for America need a party that we can count on.

The elitist establishment Republican leadership is not doing it for us—by choice. This book describes the values of conservatives that are no longer important to Republicans. It offers a comprehensive rationale for why the Republican Party must be abandoned in favor of a brand new American Party.

The American Party will be for all Americans. Beware of the elite establishment Republicans as you would beware of wolves in sheep clothing, and in regard to them, the Ryan's, McCain's, Graham's, Rubio's, and McConnell's, invoke the old prayer: God protect me from my friends and I will take care of my enemies. Bring on the American Party!

Secret # 95 Rachel Maddow

Please don't blame me if you happen to watch Rachel Maddow by mistake. Nobody watches her show intentionally. She is by far the most disgusting liberal progressive Marxist on TV.

Even for MSNBC, she is bad. The woman is so partisan and outspoken she makes two real cases of nausea, Keith Olbermann and Chris Matthews look like reasonable individuals.

Therefore, she is the creme de la creme of nasty leftist ideologues at MSNBC. While her face is on a variety of radio and television shows, she is now best known for her show, The Rachel Maddow Show. You can have her. I can't wait to move to the next secret.

Secret #96 Brian Kilmeade

Watch Brian Kilmeade whenever you can. Brian is one of my favorites. He has a serious side and a light side, and though he shows little bias, I know he is pro-American. Kilmeade currently serves as co-host of Fox News Channel's (FNC) FOX & Friends (weekdays 6-9AM/ET) alongside Steve Doocy and Ainsley Earhardt.

Additionally, he serves as host of Kilmeade and Friends, (weekdays 9AM-12PM/ET) a nationally syndicated three-hour radio show on Fox News Radio. Kilmeade joined the network as a sports reporter in 1997.

Kilmeade is the author of several books, including New York Times bestseller "The Games Do Count: America's Best and Brightest on the Power of Sports."

Secret #97 Kill the EPA

This is a great read to see how far the government has gone to harm US citizens by excessive regulations designed to help Mother Nature at the expense of mothers, sons, daughters, and fathers. Written by Brian Kelly and in its second edition. Kelly says this about it:

"There are about 18,000 employees taking a salary from the EPA. Few Americans who still can think, find little value provided for the pay. The EPA, when formed, was just a small agency that cared about humans first.

The original EPA took its charter seriously and did its best to do all it could for America and Americans. Those days are long gone. This new EPA cares very little for you or for our country. The EPA of today is working on a number of new best sellers; one edition is even more silly than the next, but equally harmful.

When you are introduced to the new EPA regulations in detail in this book, in the media, or on the Internet, they will appear to be even sillier than the list of “about to be released” EPA best seller titles that we show immediately below.

Secret #98 Steve Doocy

Watch Steve Doocy every chance you get. He is clearly a good man and you can trust what he says. Steve is one of my favorites and I see him every morning before I brush my teeth. Like his peer Kilmeade, he has a serious side and a light side, and though he shows little bias, I know he is pro-American.

Every weekday morning, Doocy provides viewers with the latest news, political and entertainment headlines and engages in a variety of topical discussions with his co-hosts. Throughout his tenure at FNC, he has contributed to coverage of every presidential election since 1996.

He has also conducted interviews with a variety of newsmakers and celebrities, including former President George W. Bush, former Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney, then Senator Hillary Clinton, then Vice President Dick Cheney, actress Jessica Alba, actor Rob Lowe and model and actress Brooklyn Decker. So far, Steve Doocy is one of the good guys on Fox.

Secret #99 Eric Bolling

Eric Thomas Bolling is a conservative American television personality who specializes in financial news and political commentary. Bolling is the co-host of Fox News Channel's early evening talk show The Five. Said to Charlie Dent R-PA Eric:

BOLLING: So saying you're going to sit this election out is a way that you'll maintain the Senate or the House? Congressman, it's backward logic. It's the reason the American public is so tired of business as usual in D.C."

As a Pennsylvanian, Charlie Dent disgusts me. Sorry Charlie, we do not need Hillary lovers in Congress under any circumstances.

Secret #100 The US Immigration Fix

This is the fourth book Brian Kelly has written about illegal foreign nationals interloping in America. You will love it and you will know what to look for in Donald Trump's Candidacy. Here is the introduction:

As difficult as it is for good, hard-working Americans to believe, our government is working to keep us poor. They are lying and they are passing legislation that can only help somebody from another country beat out an American for the few jobs that exist in America. Then, these poor souls languish in misery and a lifetime of poverty.

The US Immigration Fix takes interlopers out of the shadows and gives them the opportunity, if well behaved, to stay and work in America for a lifetime. No amnesty, no citizenship, no freebies is a demand Americans have made and it is satisfied in this plan. You're going to like it. Any questions?

Secret #101 Bill Cunningham

Bill Cunningham will make you smile as he takes on the bad liberal progressives' one by one. He is a master. Cunningham is a nationally recognized broadcaster, veteran attorney, and a business entrepreneur.

As host of his own show, launched in 2011, he makes a difference in the lives of viewers, helping to resolve conflicts and mend relationships. He's been honored twice with a Marconi Award as "America's Big Market Radio Personality of the Year" on 700 WLW in Cincinnati, and in recent years added a national weekend program on Premiere Radio Networks which is heard in more than 200 markets across the U.S.

In 2011, Bill was named "one of the top 100 radio personalities of all time." It's great to have guys like Bill Cunningham on the All-for-America Team!
